

RAIDER CAPTURED BY U. S. CRUISER IS LOCALLY OWNED

Alexander Agassiz, Caught in The Pacific, With German Crew Property of F. C. Wheeler, Resident of Honolulu

The German raider Alexander Agassiz, captured in the Pacific a few days ago, according to an Associated Press report, towed into a "Pacific port" yesterday, is in part owned in Honolulu.

F. C. Wheeler, of the wholesale department of the local branch of M. A. Gunn & Co., is one of the owners of the Agassiz. His partner is Maude Lochrane, a woman who was aboard the vessel when it was captured and who was taken to the "Pacific port" when the little craft was towed in yesterday by the cruiser that captured her.

Mr. Wheeler professes entire ignorance of any illegal activities of the vessel of which he is part owner. He has not seen her, he says, since he left his home port, Mazatlan, Mexico, last May and came to Honolulu.

According to a statement by Mr. Wheeler yesterday afternoon, the vessel has been for sale for some time. He says he assigned his interest in her to his partner, Maude Lochrane, for the purpose of selling her.

HAD HUN CREW

The Associated Press despatch received yesterday said that the Agassiz, the capture of which was reported on March 22, was manned by a crew of eight Germans, in addition to the part owner, Maude Lochrane. The woman said that the Germans had "imposed on her" to secure possession of the craft. She will probably be released, according to the press despatch.

The San Francisco advices received last week when the Agassiz was first captured said that, although small, she was capable of sinking any merchant vessel plying in the Pacific. Where and how she was outfitted and equipped remains still a mystery.

TAYLOR ALSO CONCERNED

Another man who, until a few days ago was in Honolulu, is mixed up with the capture of the raider. He is William Taylor, who was arrested here on charges of embezzlement on advices from San Francisco and left for that city last Tuesday on the Sonoma in custody of Mike Burke, a San Francisco detective who was sent here for him.

Taylor, upon his arrival in Honolulu, and when the police were looking for him, walked into the police station and applied for a job as a waterfront guard.

It was on a tip furnished by Mr. Wheeler, according to the latter, that the police placed Taylor under arrest as the man wanted by the San Francisco police. Taylor strenuously denied his identity until the arrival of the San Francisco detective, when he readily admitted that he was "Mike." He kept the name up and admitted to his real name.

Mr. Wheeler says that Taylor was never a part owner of the Agassiz, but that he for some time acted as an agent for the vessel, soliciting freight orders for her. Mr. Wheeler gives Taylor nothing but a good character, adding that he is "a good fellow." He says he had no part in getting rid of him, but he finally discharged him in Los Angeles last May.

The Agassiz was under Mexican registry when captured, according to Mr. Wheeler, whose last information that his vessel was a captured German raider came from The Associated Press.

Belonged to University

The Alexander Agassiz, according to Wheeler, originally belonged to the University of California. The vessel was built with funds contributed by Alexander Agassiz, the famous scientist and was named for him. She was to be used for scientific exploration.

For some reason, however, the university decided to sell the vessel, and the vessel was sold to Wheeler and Maude Lochrane for $20,000 a year ago last January. She cost $20,000 to build and is now worth, Wheeler estimates, not less than $25,000. The craft is a motor schooner of between sixty and seventy tons register.

Originally flying the United States flag, the vessel decided to put her under Mexican registry, Wheeler says, exactly because as a Mexican vessel she could do business to better advantage in the Mexican trade, partly because under the Mexican flag she would not be subject to the restrictions of American maritime law as regards labor.

The change to Mexican registry, however, was made two days after the capture, Wheeler says, but this he did not know, as he was then at Mazatlan and had no news from the States for six weeks.

Under Mexican flag

When it was discovered that the change in registry was illegal, the American flag was again hoisted. Mr. Wheeler says he received a letter only a few days ago saying that the vessel had again been placed under the Mexican flag.

RYAN IGNORANT OF L. W. W. PLOTS

Had No Notion His Saloon Was Their Rendezvous: Is Loyal and Patriotic Citizen

That any L. W. W. plotters have been using his place as a rendezvous, as stated in Associated Press despatches from San Francisco, is not known to P. P. Ryan, proprietor of "Paddy" Ryan's Saloon. Mr. Ryan was startled when he read The Advertiser's news report that L. W. W. suspects had been caught in San Francisco, while about to sail for Honolulu and Australia on the S. S. Ventura, with a note on one of them naming "Paddy Ryan" as the place of meeting with L. W. W. plotters of this city.

At first Ryan was inclined to doubt the naming of his saloon specifically in the Associated Press report, but an opportunity given him to read the original message dispelled his mind on that score.

The report does not in any way implicate Ryan with whatever L. W. W. activities there may be here, however. His saloon happens to be handy to the waterfront and is a popular place for the employees on the steamers touching at this port. It is natural that his place should be selected, therefore, by the thugs of the L. W. W. as a handy place where newcomers may meet the resident plotters.

Ryan protests his loyalty, which is unnecessary to all those who know him as an ex-navy man. He also declares that it will not be safe for any enemy plotters to come around his saloon if he knows it. In a statement prepared by him yesterday for publication, he says:

"I was much astonished to see the headlines in yesterday morning's Advertiser announcing that Ryan's Saloon was a meeting place of plotters."

"Of course, I can no more prevent persons from making appointments to meet at my place of business than the manager of the Young Hotel or any other place can prevent their place from being so chosen. Further, I can not prove that men who belong to the United States government have never met at my place, but I do know that they have never made a regular meeting place there. I know this because for the last two years, I have personally seen it that no person, whose position in regard to the United States government could even be questioned, should make a point of frequenting my place of business. In order to prevent such meetings, I have, for the last two years, given instruction to my waiters that no language except the English language should be spoken in my saloon, and that the least criticism in disparagement of the United States government could even be cause for instant ejection of the person making such remarks. I personally arrested two men who refused to obey my orders, and my assistants acted in other cases, to my knowledge, in the same way."

"I have reason to be proud of being an American citizen. I served in the United States Navy for thirteen years, entering it as a young man and am honorably discharged with the rank of coxswain to the commander-in-chief."

"Since the beginning of this war I have felt proud of the attitude of my country and its President, and to the best of my ability have promoted our cause."

"I do not feel like boasting nor do I believe that American citizens should boast of what they have been able to do for their country in a crisis such as this, but in view of the insinuated attack on my reputation, perhaps I may be pardoned for saying that I have gladly been a subject of Liberator Bonds. My wife and children are active members of the Red Cross Association, my wife giving her evenings at least once a week to active participation in its good work."

"My place of business is the last place in the world where it would be safe for any plotters against the United States government to meet, and anyone who knows me knows that this is a fact."

With reference to information which was secured in San Francisco pointing to Honolulu as a rendezvous for plotting members of the L. W. W., United States District Attorney S. C. Huber said yesterday that nothing that has come to the attention of his department at Honolulu substantiates the belief that the men arrested on the mainland had ever used "Paddy" Ryan's saloon as a meeting place.

"All the cases in which members of his organization were investigated by his office were transient and to all appearances isolated cases," said Mr. Huber yesterday. "These particular men may have been in the saloon they mention here and may even have met some of their fraternity there, and there would have been nothing to reveal their identity either to the proprietor of the saloon or to us. We have never had that saloon or any other place in Honolulu under observation as a result of any information showing that this organization held meetings there or even used it for a gathering point."

PERMITS ARE REQUIRED BY POND FISHERMEN

It did not take long for pond fishermen to learn that stallions in the markets were forbidden by the food commissioner to purchase fish products from ponds, unless the pond fishermen had received permits from the commissioner.

The news traveled exceedingly fast with the result that the commissioner's office was besieged yesterday with pond fishermen asking for the necessary permits.

To be without a permit meant going out of business altogether. The permit carries with it certain provisions as to what the fisherman shall do with his product and the price at which he shall sell, before he can get the paper from the commissioner.

Among the pond fishermen from distant parts of the island was Oscar Cox, who said that Waialua is receiving its fish supply regularly and that at no time have the inhabitants of that part of the island felt the famine which struck Honolulu on several different occasions within the past two months.

"We have been selling right along by the pond, and according to the price list of the food commission," said Mr. Cox.

Flour Rationing Is Plan That Hawaii Is Facing

Will Be Put Into Operation Here, Says Child, Unless People Voluntarily Cut Down Consumption and Use More Substitutes

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27. (Official.)—The state food administrator today issued a statement informing Californians that only six pounds of flour monthly will be allotted to each person, starting April 1, to conserve wheat for shipment to the soldiers overseas and to the Allies. They are urged to substitute the use of fresh vegetables, which are becoming abundant. The administrator added, "Have all the bread possible, whether of wheat flour or substitutes."

Unless the people of Hawaii, particularly the housewives who actually buy and prepare foodstuffs for home consumption, voluntarily cut down their flour supply and increase the supply of substitutes, or get down actually to the "50-50" basis asked for by the National Food Commission, J. F. Child, food commissioner for Hawaii, will place everyone in the islands on an official flour ration. This will be in line with the plan already adopted by the California state food commissioner who will allow, starting April 1, only six pounds of flour per month to each person.

"Our flour consumption in Hawaii averages about 101 pounds per annum for each person," said the food commissioner yesterday.

"This would make an average of about eight pounds per month per person."

Use More Substitutes

"If we all get down to a straight and legitimate '50-50' basis, that is, cut our consumption down to about 45 pounds per month for each person, but it means a liberal use of substitutes for flour."

"By having all housewives careful and having their servants exercise care in making purchases, and looking after the quality of the flour, and not letting them go to waste or spoil, there will be no need for putting the people here on flour rations. If there are violations then the ration cards will be issued."

"I don't want to put out people on a ration system, but it all depends on the loyalty they express in the matter of food substitutes and use."

Mr. Child is circulating the food ration card called attention to the disclosures concerning conservation which are shown in restaurants, cafes, hotels, dining rooms and eating houses generally. These cards indicate that the proprietors are helping the "wheatless and meatless" days movement.

"I would like to have persons who entertain any of these public places, look for these cards before they start to eat," said Mr. Child. "These cards are to be displayed where all patrons are seen. If they are not seen the proprietor is not behind this movement, and he should be brought up with a short turn. I would like to have persons discovering the lack of display of these cards report to this office. We will see the proprietor and ascertain the reason. Cards are to be obtained from us at all times."

"If they are not displaying these cards, do not eat there. Eat where you find the loyalty card displayed."

A bulletin is being issued by the food commissioner, one of the items being in substance, the experience of a well-known family hotel proprietor, who at first criticized the food conservation and his agents for insisting upon wheatless and meatless days and other days. She thought it was making a hardship for herself and her guests. Since she devoted a little time and thought to preparing dishes, close observing all "loss days," and using substitutes, she found she was serving much greater variety of dishes and much less expensive and her guests are entirely satisfied.

SOUNDINGS FOR HILO WHARF ARE COMPLETED

At yesterday's meeting of the harbor board A. C. Wheeler, agent of the board at Hilo, reported that the field work and soundings for the new wharf at Kahalo Bay had been completed and that the work of making borings can be proceeded with as soon as equipment needed is received.

In a report from R. H. Lewis, Kauai agent of the board, a list of material needed for the proposed extension of the Nawiliwili wharf is given. Lewis estimates that the labor cost will be about $600. He says the materials can be purchased at this time.

Assistant Harbor Master W. H. Curtis of Honolulu notified the board in a communication that he has been called into the naval service as a lieutenant and asked that an indefinite leave of absence be granted to him. The request was granted by the board.

MARRIAGES IN BERLIN SHOW INCREASE IN 1918

NEW YORK, March 16. (Associated Press)—There were 14,343 marriages in Berlin in 1917 as compared with 13,067 in 1916, according to the Berlin Vorwaerts which adds: "The number of marriages is far below that of normal times, but the 1917 figures are noteworthy as denoting the first increase since the decline began."

DUKE KAHANAMOKU AFTER NEW LAURELS

Hawaii's Premier Swimmer Going To Mainland Next Week After Honors

Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaii's premier swimmer, leaves for the mainland next week to compete in the Neptune Beach, California, water events. As a fitting farewell Duke is appearing this week at the Y. M. C. A. tank in the Reef events which constitute the International Swimming Pentathlon.

The Pentathlon is a series of five events which is promoted by the New York office of the International Y. M. C. A. The first week in April the Y. M. C. A. swimmers the world around compete in these five events under standardized conditions. The point system makes it possible to compare the totals made by the various teams. Third of Its Kind

This is the third annual Life-Saving Pentathlon and in two of these Honolulu has won first place in Class B. This means that the local association is rated against cities of approximately the size of Honolulu, known as Class B. But the locals have in the past two years so handily won this prize that the Honolulu association asking how the locals would like to be promoted into the "big grade," up in Class A.

This means that this year the local swimmers are going against the very best in the land and are competing against New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and all the rest.

Since Duke is leaving early next week special preparations have been made to allow him to swim his events against time on this and tomorrow nights in the Y. M. C. A. tank.

Today the Duke is swimming the 200 and 100-yard backstroke. A pace setter may be given him.

STANFORD WINS FROM SANTA CLARA RIVALS

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 16.—Stanford varsity baseball team defeated Santa Clara today, 9 to 3, in a loosely played contest featured by heavy hitting on the part of the Cards and a lot of free and easy work on the part of the Missionites' infield. Quichien, the Santa Clara heavier, started off wonderfully, but became very, very weary. This was the second game of the series, Santa Clara taking the first, 10 to 7.

TERRITORIAL FAIR HORSE RACES SURE

Turf Lovers To Witness Running and Harness Events At Kapiolani Park

All those thousands of Honolulu people who like to see good horse races will not be disappointed this summer, although the Hawaii Polo & Racing Club has called off its dogs most for the benefit of the Territorial Fair.

The big annual racing card at Kapiolani Park, usually held June 10 and 11, will not take place this year, but in its stead the Territorial Fair officials have decided to arrange a series of speed events, both harness and running, probably extending through the entire week of the big celebration, June 10 to 18.

It will not be strictly a speed program, but the events will be sandwiched in between other amusement features staged by the Army and Navy and military athletic committees. A number of owners who had intended entering fast horses in the Polo Club's Kahanamoku Day meet have expressed willingness to participate in the fair's races, and a sufficient number of entries is assured to warrant several races, at least.

Program to Be Arranged

The character of the events and their arrangement remain to be determined. George H. Angus, chairman of the commission, says it is fairly certain now that something of the kind will be prepared as a part of the general amusement program. The Army and Navy committee, which is to have general charge of all entertainment features, may have supervision of the horse races along with the other events.

C. H. Judd has two or three horses which he is willing to enter in harness and a new horse, is willing to place them in races for their classes are arranged.

Mrs. Walter F. Macfarlane has four thoroughbreds, two-year-olds, that she probably will have ready for the meet and W. F. Dillingham has some two and three-year-olds that can be counted upon for the runs.

Grace Has His Usual Say

Johnny Grace, secretary of the Polo Club, says he believes fair-goers can count on seeing Umpqua and Quanta in action in the mile event if anything can be found in the islands to go against them. He also says that Termost and Mary Louise, of the Lucas stables, may enter events in their class.

D. L. E. Case has a trotter he would like to place in the green, or named horse event. A Japanese named Onaka has a two-year-old harness horse which he undoubtedly will place on the program.

These by no means are all the speed animals available, and if attractive purses are hung up an excellent series of harness and running races undoubtedly can be given.

Effort will be made to determine, at the earliest date, just what events can be arranged, in order that the trainers may get their horses in condition.

KAM BASKET TEAM WILL INVADE HILO

Kailhi Cadets Leaving in Mauna Kea Next Saturday For Big Island

Plans for the invasion of Hilo by the Kamehameha basketball team have been completed and the team will leave Honolulu in the Mauna Kea next Saturday afternoon, a few days earlier than expected. Harold Godfrey, who is managing the trip, has arranged a game for next Tuesday evening against the Hilo Boarding School picked team, champions of Hawaii. This match will no doubt be an interesting one, as both teams are fast.

Coach Borden is putting the Kam team into shape for the coming game, as he has not forgotten the defeat the Hilo team gave his aggregation last year while the cadet battalion was visiting Hilo. At that time Clarence Linn was not on the team and the basketball fans of Hilo will have an opportunity of seeing this famous summer in action, as he is a fast and handy player. The Clark brothers will also be a tower of strength to the team this year.

Save Dead To Be Host

While in Hilo the members of the team will be the guests of Stephen J. DeLoa, Jr., a former graduate of the school and one who has always taken interest in things Kamehameha. There are many Kam boys in and around Hilo and they will no doubt turn out strong in support of the school team.

John Yates, a Kam boy and supervisor of West Hawaii, is in the city on business and said yesterday that all the boys on the Big Island were on enthusiastic over the coming trip of the Kam.

Games may be played against the Hilo High School team, although only one has been scheduled so far. This game will be played next Wednesday evening. The team will leave Hilo for Maui next Friday morning, joining the cadet battalion at Waiuku.

Coach Ralph J. Borden leaves in the Mauna Kea this morning for Hilo and will await there the arrival of the Kam basketball team on Saturday morning.

MILWAUKEE, March 16.—Jack Dempsey and Tom Cowley, the national English heavyweight, have been matched for a ten-round bout here March 27. Dempsey will mix with Gusbant Smith two nights previous to that date at Atlanta, Georgia.

A. B. Kroll To Head Hawaiian Rowing Association This Year

The Annual meeting of the Hawaiian Rowing Association was held on Monday evening at the Honolulu Athletic Club. The delegates present were: Van der Myt, Boat Club; Charles R. Williams, H. Bailey, and Robert Callagor, and for the Hailan Yacht and Boat Club, J. J. Kelly, P. H. Cogswell and A. B. Kroll.

The election resulted in the following officers being chosen for the coming year:

A. B. Kroll, president; Charles R. Williams, vice-president; H. Bailey, secretary.

The meeting of the 1918 Regatta, this year, will be taken up with Reg. Gen. Judd. It was on account of the present watercraft restrictions, which will be in effect from September 1 to the first day of September of this year, will have to go by the board.

From the present looks of things, unless conditions undergo a radical betterment, it appears that the 1918 Regatta meet, scheduled for the third day of September, will have to go by the board.
